Sarah, 6, watches as her Mum is sawn in half

Sarah Jones was an apprehensive young girl on Thursday. It was the day after her sixth birthday, her mum had been invited on stage and was being "sawn in half," not hidden in a box of any sort, but in full view, and with an electric hand saw.

And Mrs. Norma Jones, of Highbury Crescent, Bessarr, helped to win for Graham Holland the coveted Bob Hunter Cup, competed for annually by members of Doncaster Magic Circle.

Graham (22), who works in his family's pork butchers business in Thorne, and is president elect of the Circle, was assisted in his winning act by Mary Sykes, of Belton, who is also a magicienne in her own right.

Opening with the production of an unbelievable number of playing cards from his bare hands, Graham's act proceeded through a series of silk and coin effects, flowers in a bouquet changed colour, and a wilting flower recovered every time it was watered.

Don Valley High School boy Gary Clifford (15), of Bentley, was runner-up for the second year. Gary already holds the Tyros' Trophy, donated by Mrs. Marie Cairns, of Moordens, in memory of her late husband, Countess, who was a member of the Circle for some years.
