

As someone who naturally gravitates towards menswear in my everyday dressing,
The majority of my garments at home are menswear pieces and I frequently look to menswear for styling.
I decided to begin here.

Jwsy

My concept is a popup capsule collection that combines menswear tailoring and sportswear, with a heavy influence of basketball. Blurring the lines of gender stereotypes with a unisex collection consisting of soft and fluid silhouettes. The pandemic forced everyone into comfortable clothes, now is the time to enjoy looking good without compromising the comfort we have all gotten used to. I wanted the collection to be adaptable as well so customers can change some of the pieces to add a different aesthetic to different looks.
