The External World in its Entirety; Classically Ethereal

The external world in its entirety; Classically Ethereal

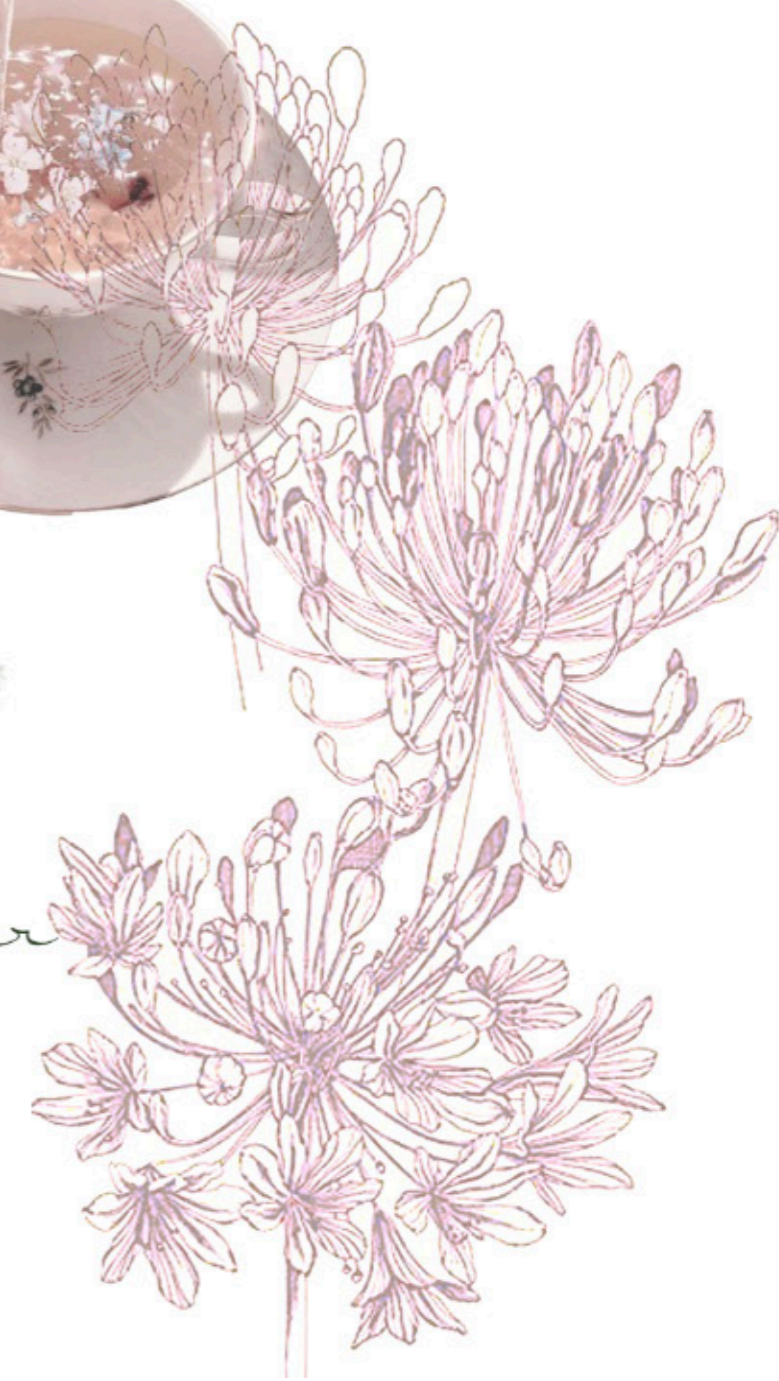

Classically Ethereal is a collection strongly inspired by the British countryside

Taking inspiration from traditional British outdoor clothing and tea dresses, contrasting with the celestial and fictional side of nature. Being brought up in the countryside I have always been surrounded by an abundance of nature. It plays a huge part in my life and I have become to appreciate it since a young age. By looking at whimsical view on the outdoors it relates to how I saw the countryside while growing up, re-living through the eyes of an imaginative, fictional view of nature.

My final collection is formed through a range of garments, which can all be interchanged and worn as different outfits. Being a lightweight collection, the garments can be layered together or worn as singular pieces.
