OLYMPIC
challenge 1992

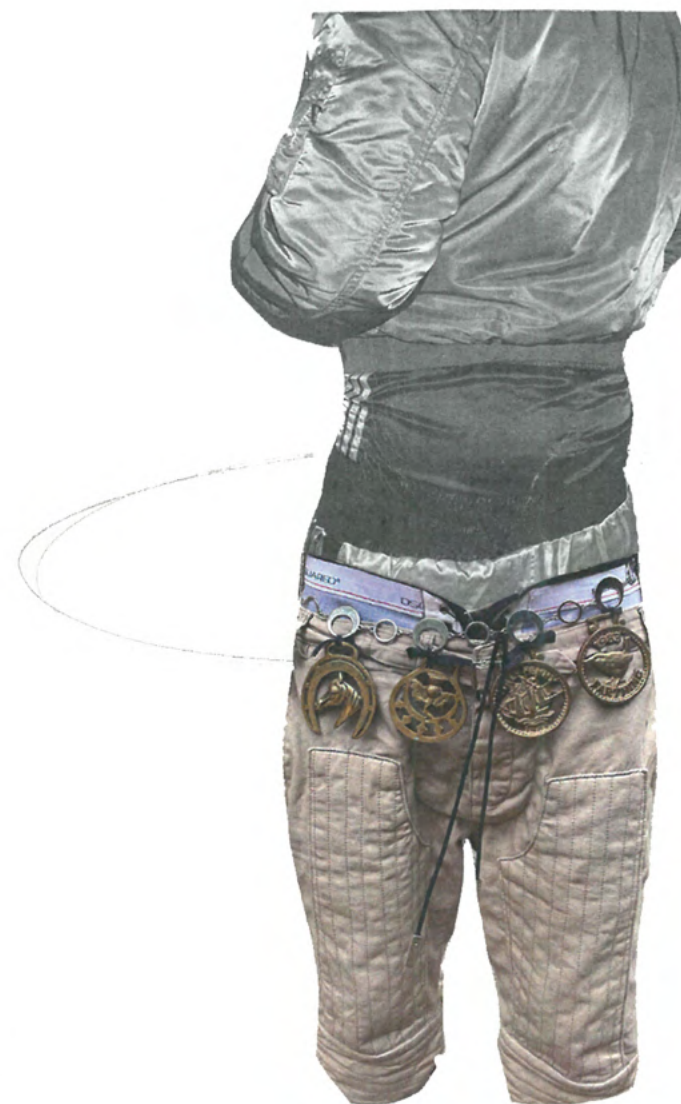

37. PETER ELLIOTT (GB)
In 1984, Elliott became the first British runner to beat Sebastian Coe over 1,500 metres since 1976. In 1985, he never looked back, carrying on the mantle of Coe, Ovett and Cram, who all set world records in the 1980s. A gritty competitor, Elliott always seemed to just miss out on championship glory until he won the Commonwealth title in 1990. Now he will be a favourite for 1,500 metres Gold in Barcelona. His chief rivals will be talented Algerian, Nourredine Morceli, plus Abdi Bile, Simon Doyle and Jens-Peter Herold.
